

a student asked the guru how to become a guru.

the guru said, “there is only one way: you must renounce your friends, your family, and your possessions. you must journey alone into the desert and fast, eating and drinking nothing for forty days.”

the guru didn't want any competition.