

the guru wanted to increase attendance at his school, so he offered a money back guarantee to anyone who wasn't #zenlightened after a month of classes.

then he told his students that an average person would become #zenlightened in two weeks, but it could take longer depending on how intelligent you were.

no one asked for their money back.